SUMMARY.

THERE are 117 places in which inquiry was instituted by the Commissioners.

22 appear either not to have had municipal corporations in 1800, or the evidence of their having had them is unsatisfactory.

95 appear to have had municipal corporations in 1800.

In 24 the Commissioners were unable to discover, in 1833, any existing members of the corporations which had subsisted in 1800.

11 they found the corporations in actual decay, or in a condition of doubtful existence.

60 they found the corporations still maintained.

95

Their total population is 894,503.
